Curriculum for PEARL

Tetsuya Komagata, Dean of the Faculty of Economics

Economists have traditionally attempted to understand economic phenomena in two distinctive ways; some try to capture and interpret economic problems using abstract theories, whilst others rather by gathering concrete facts and through deeper understanding of economic institutions. These two approaches correspond to Type A and Type B, respectively, in the curriculum of the Faculty of Economics at the Hiyoshi campus. As a student in the PEARL (Program in Economics for Alliances, Research and Leadership) you follow the Type B curriculum. Its basic idea is to acquire economic knowledge from inductive point of view, that is, through detailed knowledge of facts and institutions.

Needless to say, the two approaches to economic phenomena explained above must be complementary to each other. But in the Type B curriculum, students begin their study with an emphasis on empirical evidence and a “historical” approach, while they can also take mathematics courses as elective subjects.

During the first two years, you learn the basics of economics by taking introductory courses, including macroeconomics, microeconomics, and economic history. At the same time, you study three foundation subjects in your first year: (INTRODUCTION TO THE JAPANESE ECONOMY; STATISTICS; and HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVES IN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS.) In addition, diverse courses in liberal arts and foreign language classes will help develop your academic ability.

After finishing your study at Hiyoshi campus in two years, you are moving to Mita campus, located in one of the downtowns of metropolitan Tokyo. Here you would certainly be surprised by the variety of subjects offered by our fellow economists. Core courses represent main pillars in each of the ten major subject areas. You must take core courses from at least three areas and obtain the required number of credits from each. Furthermore, we offer a variety of advanced courses, as you can see in our course catalog.

In addition, we have three distinct types of programs, which will certainly contribute to making your academic life in Mita more worthwhile and enjoyable.

One is the Research Seminar, a traditional mold of education common among the four faculties of humanities and social sciences at Mita. Some seminars are conducted in English alone. Others are in Japanese, whilst there are seminars in which discussions and presentations are offered partly in Japanese and partly in English, depending upon your Japanese proficiency and the English level of your peers in the seminar. As in general lecture courses here, you can find variety of topics. As for details, refer to the organizer of each seminar and/or the executive director of the PEARL.

The second mold is Independent Research Project, in which you write a thesis upon the theme you have chosen yourself. The instructor will be chosen from professors teaching at Hiyoshi and Mita campuses. This means that you can choose from a wide range of subjects which are not necessarily confined to the narrow cadre of economics subjects. After submitting your thesis, you will also give an oral presentation in front of your peers and professors.

Thirdly we offer PCP (Professional Career Program), again entirely conducted in English. After finishing courses in the program successfully, you will be given a certificate showing that you have completed the PCP. The program is demanding, yet you will enjoy the intimate atmosphere, since the number of the students in it is limited. Note that some of the courses at Mita campus are open only for those students in the PCP.

Finally, I would like to draw your attention to our alliances and active exchanges with schools abroad. The Faculty has bachelor's double degree programs with Sciences Po in France and Bocconi University in Italy. Furthermore, we have five-year BA/MA programs with Sciences Po, HEC, Bocconi University, University of Cologne and, with Brandeis University. The BA/MA with HEC is for PEARL students only. I strongly recommend these programs with overseas universities for PEARL students to enhance the scope of your experiences and to open new possibilities for your career. The Faculty has also developed regular student exchange programs with numerous partner institutions, offering you the chance to study abroad for one year or for one term. I do hope that you will “design a future” by yourself by taking advantage of our curriculum and opportunities to study abroad, including double degree programs and five-year BA/MA programs.

Curriculum Guidelines (For All Undergraduate Faculties)

Chapter 1 Introduction

This course registration guide is written for students registered at Hiyoshi campus for academic year 2025. The academic supervision guidelines for each undergraduate faculty explain the precautions for when taking courses, how to register for courses, and the application of the university regulations (separate booklet). As matters related to taking courses are explained in detail, please do not limit use to course registration times but endeavor to continuously refer back to and confirm this content.

Many course registration related trouble occur each year because students do not read the course registration guide. Much of trouble is related to the advancement to the next year. Be sure to ask a member of the academic advisor or the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services if there are any items that you cannot understand or are unsure of. Please be very careful that you do not make mistakes.

1 Notices Academic Affairs

Please be sure to check K-Support and/or student website on which all types of notifications will be posted. This will include timetables for courses taught at Hiyoshi Campus, classroom changes, class cancellation, makeup classes, implementation guidelines for all examinations, the academic calendar, emergency notices from faculties, and calls to students. Also, please check the bulletin boards (Fourth Building: Section B 1F). For information regarding courses taught on other campuses, please similarly check K-Support and/or student website, bulletin boards on the campuses where these courses are held.

2 Timetable, Course Summaries & Syllabi

For details about course contents, syllabi, textbooks, grading systems, etc. please refer to the online “syllabus and Timetable” listings. The “Course Summaries & Syllabi” can be accessed on “K-LMS” (p. 12). (After logging in to K-Support and choose “K-LMS.”) You can search for courses using the timetable of your affiliated Faculty/academic year, or by entering a day, time, department, keyword, etc., including courses in other departments.

The official timetable for the academic year will also be made available as a PDF file through the Keio student website.

Keio University Student Website:

3 Academic Advising

- (1) Academic Advising before course registration
Academic advising answer questions and give advice about course registration. The method of implementation and schedule for each faculty will be announced on K-Support and/or student website. Consultation is also possible at the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services (refer to the guide to the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services at end of this volume).
- (2) Academic Advising after course registration can be consulted at any time.
- (3) Head, Academic Director and Vice Academic Advisor at Hiyoshi for the academic year 2025

4 Counting of Credits (Undergraduate Rules and Regulations, Article 28)

- (1) Lecture courses
A weekly class for half a year counts as 2 credits, a weekly class for a whole year counts as 4 credits, and an intensive course twice a week for half a year counts as 4 credits (there are some exceptions).
- (2) Foreign language courses
A weekly session for half a year counts as 1 credit, a weekly session for a whole year counts as 2 credits and intensive lectures twice a week for half a year count as 2 credits (there are some exceptions).
- (3) Natural Science Courses (including experiments)
Courses that include experiments in the Faculties of Letters, Economics, Law, or Business and Commerce count as 3 credits if they are for half a year and as 6 credits if they are for a whole year. However, the course registration method for them will vary depending on your faculty and the year of entry into the university.
Please refer to Chapter 4 “Course Registration for Natural Sciences (Including Experiments)” (p. 21).

5 Grade

(1) Grading System

The grade for a course is determined after students have attended the classes and taken the assessed examinations (semester-end examinations and/or assignments). There are five grade levels: S, A, B, C, and D. Passing grades are S, A, B, and C, whereas D is a fail. However, some courses only use the two grade levels of P and F, where P is a pass and F is a fail. Courses taken at other universities that have been approved for credit transfer without using the grade levels S, A, B, C or P are assigned a G.

Grading system for courses taken before the 2016 academic year

There are four basic grade levels: A, B, C, and D. Passing grades are A, B, and C, whereas D is a fail. Specified courses and courses taken at other universities are graded using the same system outlined above.

(2) GPA (Grade Point Average) *Only applicable to students admitted in AY 2017 or later.

The GPA is a number expressing the average value of the grades earned in courses. The five grade levels for all registered courses are converted into a grade point (GP) from 4.0 to 0 (S:4.0, A:3.0, B:2.0, C:1.0, D:0.0) and multiplied by the number of credits for the course. The sum of this calculation is then divided by the total number of credits for registered courses.

GPA = Sum of (Number of Course Credits x Grade Point of Course) ÷ Total Number of Credits for Registered Courses

Courses graded as P, F or G and optional courses not required for graduation are excluded when calculating the GPA.

There are two types of GPA. The “semester GPA” for relevant semesters and the “cumulative GPA” for all periods of enrollment. Both the semester GPA and cumulative GPA are shown on grade reports. On the Transcript of Academic Record, only the cumulative GPA is shown.

Be advised that your GPA will also be used for academic guidance, and in the case that your GPA is significantly low, you may be advised to withdraw from the university, etc.

(3) Grade Reports

A grade report for courses completed in the Fall Semester is available to see online in early March. The final grade report for the Academic Year Fall/Spring, including courses completed in the Spring Semester, Academic Year Fall/Spring corequisite courses, and Fall/Spring Set courses, become available online in early September. Grade reports with grades for the Fall and Spring 1st-half Semester courses can only be viewed online during the designated period. No inquiries about grades will be accepted either before or after the issue of a grade report.

Grade reports can be viewed online. Students will need their keio.jp ID and password. Further details, including the periods they are available, will be announced on the Keio University Students Website. Students should refer to Chapter 2. “Web System” (p. 12) of this guide for details on reissuing passwords and using the web system. Student’s guarantor can view grade reports online by using the guarantor’s ID. Guarantor’s ID is mailed to student’s guarantor.

(4) Transcript of Academic Record

Refer to Chapter 17, “Student ID Cards, Applications, and Certificates” (p. 53).

6 Inquire Lecturers to Review Grades - Grade Inquiry System

Students can use this system to ask a lecturer for a grade review if they have solid grounds for appealing the grade. The application period and other details are announced on News at K-Support. No applications are accepted after the deadline. Students are not permitted to ask their lecturer about their grades directly. Such behavior will be considered an act of academic misconduct, and severe penalties will be imposed under Article 188 of the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations and the regulations of Faculty of Economics.

7 Advancement to the Next Year

Students must repeat a year if the requirements for advancing to the next year are not satisfied. A failure in attendance can sometimes make it impossible to advance to the next year. Please read through the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations (separate volume) and this booklet to gain a correct understanding of the conditions for advancement to the next year.

8 Degrees Conferred

Please check the items below regarding the degrees conferred by the university.

- Article 2 of the degree regulations written in the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations (including experts from the Degree Regulations) for the year of entry

Registration for Natural Science Courses (Including Experiments)

Only courses taught in English can be counted as graduation credits. Natural Sciences courses that include experiments are “Chemistry I (including experiments),” “Chemistry II (including experiments),” “Biology I (including experiments),” “Biology II (including experiments),” “Physics I (including experiments),” and “Physics II (including experiments).” These are all instructed in Japanese. In order to perform the experiments (every other week), the classes are held over two consecutive periods. Multiple courses are held simultaneously during a single class period. It is possible to register for courses held in any class period by any faculty member (except for the School of Medicine courses and Faculty of Science and Technology courses that are not included on the list). For details, please see “(Reference) Class timetable for natural science courses (including experiments)” under “Timetables.” It is possible to register for courses for one semester, but some faculty members recommend studying the subject for the entire year, so be sure to carefully read “Timetable, Course Summaries & Syllabi” (p. 10) and “Regarding Registration for Natural Science Courses (Including Experiments)” (Keio University Student Website) (Japanese only).

■ Taking natural science courses (including experiments) (Keio Student Website)
<https://www.students.keio.ac.jp/hy/class/registration/rishuguide.html> (Japanese only)
• <https://lms.keio.jp/courses/10626> (Japanese only)

On these websites, important information will be posted, and updated as required, regarding course registrations for natural science courses such as the below. Please be sure to view this when completing course registrations.

[Experimentation fees]

You are required to pay the experimentation fees (2,000 yen per course each semester) by the designated deadline after the period of Course Cancellation. Even if you register for the class using the online system, should you fail to pay the experimentation fee by the due date you will be given a grade of “D” (Fail) for the relevant course. For the deadline and payment method, please follow the instructions on the webpage mentioned above or the notification on K-Support. Please note that experimentation fees will not be refunded once paid.

[Lottery/screening]

To ensure that experiments are conducted by groups of an appropriate size, there is a restriction on the number of people who can be accepted. In cases where the number of people it is possible to accept has been exceeded, a lottery or screening may take place. Some classes conduct questionnaires in advance as a reference for the screening. For details, please check the webpage and “Syllabus and Timetable”.

Only courses taught in English can be counted as graduation credits. Information, including the venues for physical activities, classroom changes for lectures and seminars and changes to the class timetable will be posted on the Institute of Physical Education website (<https://ipe.hc.keio.ac.jp/>). Students who register for courses should check on information frequently posted on the website.

It may not be possible to register for physical activity courses if you are undergoing treatment for an illness or injury with restrictions on physical exercise. In such cases, please ensure to consult an academic advisor for the Institute of Physical Education in advance. If you have any questions on registering for physical education courses, please speak to an academic advisor for the Institute of Physical Education by making a request at the Research Centers and Institutes service counter, Hi-yoshi Office of Student Services.

1 Aims of the Physical Education Courses

One of the major objectives of physical education courses is for students to better understand humankind through experiencing and comprehending various phenomena of the body and by scrutinizing their own existence within society. In particular, we aim to nurture human beings enriched by their discernment and mastery of the “somatic” or “embodied knowing” that is expressed by the body beyond verbalizations of knowledge. All courses adopt various approaches in line with this objective in addition to the subdivided goals specific to each course.

2 Structure of Physical Education Courses

The physical education courses include the four courses of “Lecture on Physical Education 1/2,” “Seminar on Physical Education,” “Physical Activity A,” and “Physical Activity B.” The handling of courses and the maximum number of credits that can be recognized differs between faculties and departments. Carefully read the course registration guide for your affiliated faculty before registering for courses. An outline of each course is given below. For details of the class content, please refer to the online syllabus and timetable (p. 10).

Lecture on Physical Education 1/2, Seminar on Physical Education, and Physical Activity A are evaluated by the five grade levels of S, A, B, C, and D. Physical Activity B is evaluated by the two grade levels of Pass or Fail.

- (1) Lecture on Physical Education 1/2 (2 credits) ...Lectures related to sports science, body, health, exercise, etc.
- (2) Seminar on Physical Education (1 credit) ...Seminar-style classes with lectures and practice, Seminar-style classes that focus on specified themes
- (3) Physical Activity A (1 credit)Physical activity: Sports
- (4) Physical Activity B (1 credit)Physical activity: Sports

Physical education courses include Physical Activity A and Physical Activity B, and students should be particularly aware that the evaluation methods are different for each course. Physical Activity A offers Weekly Sports and Physical Activity B offers Seasonal Sports. An outline of these courses is as follows:

Weekly Sports.....Classes offered once a week

*Days for sessions other than the weekly classes have been set for quarter system courses.

Seasonal SportsClasses lasting 7 days during the summer break (August~September) or during the spring break (February). However, training camps are in principle four-day three-night events.

3 Elective Courses

The courses other than the Mandatory Courses and the Mandatory Elective Courses are called “Elective Courses.”

Please be aware that these may not be included in the credits necessary for advancement to the next year and the credits necessary for graduation that are classified into class types.

The Elective Courses are included in the upper limit of 48 course registration credits.

- (1) Courses registered for as Elective Courses
 - General Education Courses
 - Elective Courses in the Foundation Courses (See (2))
 - Advanced courses and Related Courses in the Major Subjects
 - Electives (non-specific)
- (2) Elective Courses from the Foundation Subjects

2. Timetable
3. Course registration per course type
4. Course registration for Foundation Subjects
5. Courses for which multiple registrations are possible under the same course name
6. Course registration for courses in a different faculty

8. Courses not included in the upper limit of 48 course registration credits
9. Mutual course registration with Institute of Science Tokyo
10. University-wide Common Courses

1 Classes

- (1) One class is 90 min. long and is counted as one unit. The timetable consists of these periods.
- (2) Types of course (half-semester courses, semester-long courses, two-semester course pair, semester-long intensive courses, year-long courses)

“Half-semester courses” are courses that are held either in the first half or second half of semester. Courses that are held for one period a week in either just the Fall Semester or just the Spring Semester are called “Semester-long courses”. For some of the semester-long courses, it is necessary to register for both the Fall Semester and the Spring Semester. These are called “Two-semester course pair”. Two-semester course pair have either an “a” or a “b” at the end of the course name. Please register for courses in an “a” and “b” set that are held on the same period of the same day of the week and have the same lecturer (with some exceptions). The grade results for two-semester course pair are notified all together at the end of the academic year. It is therefore not possible to receive an evaluation for either semester unless both the Fall Semester and the Spring Semester courses have been attended.

Also courses that have classes held more than two periods per week in just the Fall Semester or just the Spring Semester are called “Semester-long intensive courses” and courses that are held for one period a week throughout the year are called “Year-long courses.”

- (3) Counting of credits

Class format/Courses	Type of course	Number of credits obtained
General Education Subjects (Category I) The experiment courses of Chemistry I and II (including experiments), Biology I and II (including experiments) and Physics I and II (including experiments)	Semester-long Courses	3 credits
Foreign Language I “English Academic Skills” 1, 2 (~AY 2025 Spring Semester)	Semester-long Intensive Courses	2 credits
Foreign Languages II, Foreign Languages III, Selected Foreign Language (A) Special Courses and Open Courses at the Research Center for Foreign Language Education	Semester-long Courses	1 credit
	Two-semester course pair	Spring Semester: 1 credit/Fall Semester: 1 credit
	Semester-long Intensive Courses	2 credits/3 credits(differs between courses)
Physical Education Courses “Seminar on Physical Education”	Semester-long Courses	1 credit
Physical Education Courses “Physical Activity A” “Physical Activity B” Lecture courses other than those above (AY 2025 Fall Semester ~: Including Foreign Language I “English Academic Skills” 1, 2)	Half-year Courses or Intensive Courses for a specified period	1 credit
	Semester-long Courses	2 credits
	Two-semester course pair	Spring Semester: 2 credits/Fall Semester: 2 credits
	Semester-long intensive Courses	4 credits
	Year long Courses	4 credits

2 Timetable

- (1) Registration Number
All the courses held are given a registration number. Select a registration number at the time of course registration to perform the course registration for that course. Check the timetable and correctly select the registration numbers for the courses you wish to register for at the time of course registration. Please be careful, as if you have forgotten to register for a course then it is not be possible to take that course. Also, Semester-long intensive courses have two classes per week. For the intensive course registration, if you enter this registration number, you will be registered for both classes automatically.
- (2) It is not possible to register for courses allotted to higher academic year levels.
- (3) Students may not register for courses that are logistically impossible to attend when taking courses on multiple campuses.

Example 1: Taking a course that has 3rd period classes on Hiyoshi Campus followed by a course that has 4th period classes on Mita Campus.

Example 2: Taking a course that has 2nd period classes on Hiyoshi Campus followed by a course that has 3rd period classes on Shonan Fujisawa Campus.

However, if commuting between the Hiyoshi and Mita campuses, students are permitted to take courses in which the 2nd and 3rd periods respectively fall before and after lunch. However, students should be aware that they may be late to such classes at times.

- (4) For registration for “Distance learning/online classes,” please check the “Guidelines for Taking Online Classes,” available on sites such as K-LMS. If classes are offered in consecutive periods on different campuses, it is possible to register for them if one or both of them are conducted online (for example, taking a 1st period class in-person on Hiyoshi Campus followed by a 2nd period class online that is conducted from Mita Campus). However, even for distance learning/online classes, there may be cases that would cause an issue with your enrollment, such as a portion of the course being conducted face-to-face, or in-person examinations. Please be sure to confirm the details of the class format in your syllabus. In addition, please check with the respective faculty member in charge of the class to ensure that such issues would not occur. It is the student’s responsibility to confirm the above and ensure there are no problems when registering.

	PEARL
Mandatory Courses	Introduction to the Japanese Economy		Historical Perspectives in Economic Analysis
	Statistics 1 / Statistics 2
Elective Courses	Linear Algebra	Advanced Linear Algebra	Introduction to Calculus	Calculus	Information Processing 1~3

(Note) If these are studied as Elective Courses and a pass mark is obtained, then they will be recognized as credits within the number of credits required in each year for advancement to the next year (24 credits or more in the first year and 60 credits or more in the second year) and as the 16 credits for courses authorized as graduation credits. These are Elective Courses.

5 Courses for Which Multiple Registrations are Possible under the Same Course Name

There are courses on the timetable with the same name. In principle, students can only register for only one of the courses that have the same name. However, course registration for multiple courses that have the same name is possible when the conditions are met:

- (1) General Education Courses
If courses have a different “lecturer” then it is possible to perform multiple registrations for the courses as General Education Courses even though the courses have the same name.
- (2) General Education Courses Category III: General Education Seminar and General Education Seminar a/b
Even if the lecturer is the same, if the contents are different, then multiple course registration is possible as General Education Courses.
- (3) If you took “Introduction to Cosmology (subject coordinator: Kenichiro Aoki)” in the 2019 academic year, you cannot take “Microscopic Nature of Matter and Quantum Physics” because the content of the course is the same.
- (4) If you have registered multiple courses with the same name for Foundation Subjects (only applies for Information Processing I, Information Processing II, and Information Processing III), the second and third courses will be considered as “optional courses.” (See section 3,(6) “Optional Courses” p. 36.)
- (5) Students can take the same class(course) multiple times for Physical Education (“Physical Activity Course A” or “Physical Activity Course B”) as electives (non-specific). However, be aware that there are limits on the number of credits for such courses that can be counted towards graduation. (See section 3(5) “Elective Courses” ① Physical Education Courses on p. 36.)

Course Numbering(K-Number)

Beginning in the 2022 academic year, Keio University will be introducing a course numbering system (K-Number) which shall take effect with regard to all courses to indicate the course's level, academic field, and class format.

The K-Number system will allow students to search for courses in academic fields of interest and learn based on a systematically organized academic plan.

For courses which are offered jointly between multiple faculties or undergraduate and graduate levels, a separate number will be assigned for each faculty/graduate school respectively.

For further details, please refer to K-Support and/or student website.

4 Class Attendance when Chosen as a Lay Judge

Keio University does not officially recognize absences from classes to attend a trial as a lay judge. Students who are selected as lay judges and are unsure about class attendance should consult with a staff member at the Faculty of Economics Section at the Office of Student Services. Please note that the nature of certain classes may mean that attendance is compulsory.

5 Support for Students with Disabilities(Reasonable Accommodation)

Keio University strives to provide the necessary support and means to ensure that students with disabilities have equal access and equal quality of academic opportunities as other students. All students enrolled in an undergraduate faculty or graduate school at Keio University are eligible for support. The support that Keio offers varies depending on the nature of each student's disability. The specifics of the support(provision of reasonable accommodation)are determined based on what each student requests and will be determined after a constructive discussion that finds overlap between the support a student needs and what specific mechanisms the university is able to provide. It takes about one month from the time of application to the time when the details of reasonable accommodation are determined. If you wish to continue to receive reasonable accommodation, you will need to apply each semester.

For details, please refer to the Office for Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion website.

<https://www.diversity.keio.ac.jp/en/index.html>

*Reasonable Accommodations: Article 7 of the "Act for Eliminating Discrimination against Persons with Disabilities" (2013) states: "If a person with a disability expresses the genuine willingness to eliminate the social barrier, an administrative organ, etc. in conducting its administrative affairs or other work, must provide reasonable accommodation to implement the elimination of the social barrier so long as the burden associated with the relevant implementation is not disproportionate, in accordance with the sex, age, and state of the disability of the person with a disability so that the rights and interests of the person with the disability is not violated." In observation of this rule, we define carrying out the necessary actions as the "provision of reasonable accommodation."

6 Assignments

Students must adhere to following rules when submitting assignments.

When submitting a report, please adhere to the following:

- (1) Please submit reports within the designated period according to the mandated process.
- (2) When submitting reports online, transmission errors are more likely to occur just before the submission deadline. Please be sure to submit your reports well in advance of the deadline.
- (3) Please refer to Precautions for writing assignments and theses (p. 48).

7 Semester-end Examinations

Semester-end examinations are held at the end of each semester.

*Details including the timetable for semester-end examinations, instructions on the items allowed in the exam room, and important notes will be announced on the For Keio University Student Website, or K-LMS. Any additions or changes will be announced as they are decided. Make sure to regularly check for new information and just before the examinations.

<https://www.students.keio.ac.jp/en/hy/class/exam/>

(1) Examination period

Semester-end examinations at the end of the Spring Semester: July 23(Wed) to August 1(Fri)(tentative)

Semester-end examinations at the end of the Fall Semester: January 26(Mon) to February 5(Thu)(tentative)

(2) Cautions

[1] Student ID cards

- It is necessary to carry a student ID card to take an examination. Students must show their student ID card in order to take the examination.
- If students forget to bring their student ID card on the day of the examination, they must obtain a temporary ID card (valid only on the date of issuance; permits entry to all campuses and libraries) at the General Affairs and Inquiries Group in the Office of Student Service. A charge of 500 yen will apply.
- Examination time will not be extended for any students arriving late as a result of the administrative procedures required to obtain a temporary ID card.

[2] Misconduct

- Please take the examination earnestly without engaging in misconduct or any act that may be misunderstood as misconduct.
- The answer sheet must always be submitted.
- Any acts such as cheating, the bringing in of items not permitted, or the taking out of the answer sheet, will be considered as misconduct and will be handled severely in accordance with Article 188 of the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations.

[3] Semester-end examinations period

- Please refer to the bell schedule for semester-end examinations at the beginning of this guide. During semester-end examinations, the bell that indicates a change in class period will run on a different schedule than normal. Furthermore, please be aware that the bell schedule for semester-end examinations vary between campuses.
- The length of a semester-end examination is in principle 50 minutes. Unless specified otherwise, the examinations will be implemented for this duration. However, this does not apply to all courses. Please check the timetable for the semester-end examinations.

[4] Late arrival

- Students are allowed to take the examination if they arrive within the first 20 minutes after the start of the examination (time extensions not given). However, if student's late arrival is due to unavoidable train delays, students may choose whether to take the examination then or apply for a makeup examination. Even if the reason for arriving late is a train delay, etc., if they decide to enter the venue within 20 minutes after examinations started, they will no longer eligible for a makeup examination.
Application for makeup examination resulting from a transportation delay will, in principle, only be accepted on the day of examination.

[5] Answer sheet

- Fill in the answer sheet with the name of the lecturer, course title, student's name, and student ID number. Please clearly write out the correct details in full. If anything is left blank, student will not receive a grade.

(3) Other

Some courses will not conduct examinations during the semester-end examinations period. For example, this includes courses such as foreign languages and practice courses, for which the evaluation is decided using methods such as the degree of participation in the classes, in-class examinations and/or assignments. The evaluation methods and criteria for each course are explained during classes and on the online syllabus and timetable (p. 10). If misconduct occurs in the in-class examinations or in assignments, then this will be handled in the same way as the semester-end examinations.

8 Makeup Examinations

Makeup examinations are held for students who were unable to take the semester-end examinations due to illness, accidents, or other unavoidable reasons. The courses affected are the examination courses that were implemented during the semester-end examinations period (however, foreign language courses are excluded). It is necessary to follow the specified procedures to be able to take these examinations. The method for the procedures will be instructed on Keio University Students Website at the time the examination timetable is announced. Please be aware that a medical certificate will be necessary if the reason is illness and proof of delay will be necessary if the reason is a train delay. An examinations fee of 2,000 yen per course is charged (except in the case of train delays).

Spring Semester-end makeup examinations: August 9(Sat), 12(Tue), 13(Wed)(tentative)

Fall Semester-end makeup examinations: Late February (tentative)

*Students are not eligible to take the makeup examination if they entered the examination room for the course in question or if they left the examination room early due to feeling unwell, etc. after the examination was started during the semester-end examination period.

*The grade for the makeup examination will be set one level lower than the grade that would have been awarded for the semester-end examination. (However, this measure shall not apply if there was an overlap in the timetable for semester-end examinations, if proof is provided for a train delay, if the reason was due to the taking of a state examination such as the Certified Public Accountant Examination, if the student had a disease classified by the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology as an infectious disease and a medical certificate indicating the period when attendance was suspended is prepared, or if the reason was a funeral of a family member within the second degree of kinship.)

9 Academic Misconduct

Academic misconduct in semester-end examinations, in-class exams and short tests, writing assignments, and similar assignments is a serious violation of regulations and is behavior that is unbecoming of a student. Such actions are punishable in accordance with Article 188 of the University Regulations and the internal regulations of the Faculty of Economics. Not only will the student fail the course in question, but all other courses taken and passed that semester will be lowered by one letter grade. Depending on the circumstances and degree of the misconduct, the offender's name may be publicly released, and they may face suspension or expulsion from the university.

The following are considered academic misconduct in semester-end examinations and in-class examinations(short tests).

- Cheating
- Taking a test in place of another person
- Bringing home answer sheets
- Intentionally disobeying the exam proctor's instructions
- Bringing in smartphones and wristwatch devices
- Petition

When taking examinations, you must avoid any behavior that could be misinterpreted as academic misconduct.

For reports and other writing assignments, it is considered academic misconduct to work together with another person in writing any paper to be submitted for grading, except when the instructor has given special directions to do so(such as for group work or collaborative research). Specifically, this includes the following actions.

- Writing an assignment with the help of another person
- Copying another person's assignment even in part, or conversely allowing another person to copy your assignment
- Rewording someone else's paper and passing it off as your own
- Having someone else write a paper on your behalf
- Writing a paper for another person.
- Copying another person's past assignment even in part, or conversely providing another person access to your past assignment.

In addition to the above academic misconduct, actions that may also be considered as misconduct in papers and other writing assignments include the following.

- Plagiarism: Use of another person's texts or materials published in print, on the Internet, or other media format as is without citing the source. Also, the use of your own texts or materials made for a different occasion without indicating the source

*Use of one's own past writings or published research results without indicating the source is called self-plagiarism. It is considered academic misconduct if you use your own past report, seminar publication, or other work for another class's assignment without citing it as a source. Of course, submitting the same paper for multiple classes at the same time is also an academic misconduct.

- Falsification: Deliberately rewriting materials and data that form the basis for one's claims
- Fabrication: Making up materials or data that do not exist and treating them as if they did
- Other similar actions

Plagiarism in reports and papers is an act of misconduct. Unwarranted use of another person's opinion or text, even if unintentional, is considered plagiarism, and is subject to disciplinary action as a form of misconduct at the same level as, or greater than, misconduct in semester-end and in-class examinations.

On Using ChatGPT and Other Generative AI

For each class you take, should your undergraduate faculty, graduate school, or professors encourage or permit the use of generative AI content, make sure that you follow the guidelines and instructions given by the relevant faculty members at that time. If any reports or essays are created using generative AI, you must indicate so clearly on the assignment.

In other words, using generative AI is essentially the same as relying on another person for that generated content. Students will not be allowed to use generative AI or similar tools for class assignments or exams when these tasks require students to work independently.

Precautions for writing assignments and theses

Along with the semester-end examinations and in-class examinations, written assignments (including graduation theses) are important proof of your accomplishments at university.

Any references made from particular sources must be clearly distinguished from your own viewpoints and properly cited. It will be deemed an act of plagiarism if you ignore this.

The most important points with regard to writing papers are as follows:

1. Clearly distinguish your own opinions from that of others.
2. Clearly indicate the references for quotations or when referring to or citing works of others (failure to indicate a reference is considered to be an act of plagiarism).
3. For quotations, write every single word including typographical errors.
4. Follow the rules for citations (refer to the literature below).
5. When referring to information from the Internet, clearly indicate the URL, the title of the web page, and the date when you accessed the page.

Please try to learn the generally accepted methods for using citations from the following reference books, tutorials, etc.

Hacker, D., Sommers, N. (2012). A pocket style manual (6th ed.). Boston, MA: Bedford / St. Martin's.

1 Temporary Leave of Absence (Undergraduate Faculty Rules and Regulations, Article 152)

Students who anticipate a long absence due to illness or some other unavoidable reasons, can take a temporary leave of absence with the permission of the Faculty Council. Temporary leaves of absence are taken in semester units, so the period of the temporary leave of absence will be from April 1 to September 21 for the Spring Semester or from September 22 to March 31 of the following year for the Fall Semester. The semester in which a student takes a leave of absence does not count towards the total duration of enrollment required for advancement to the next year level or graduation. However, based on Article 156 of the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations (written below), a temporary leave of absence will not be permitted in certain circumstances. (See “4 Compulsory Withdrawal from University” for more details.)

(1) Submission of an Application for Temporary Leave of Absence

Students wishing to take a temporary leave of absence should apply via “Applications” on K-Support, after confirming the details. In the case of illness, a doctor’s certificate must also be submitted, and in case of language training or study abroad, a copy of the enrolment certificate or other documentation is also required.

If the period of the temporary leave of absence will extend into the next semester or academic year, then permission must be obtained again.

Academic Year 2025

Submission deadline for Spring Semester: 16:45 on Friday, May 30, 2025

Submission deadline for Fall Semester: 16:45 on Friday, November 28, 2025

(2) Interview with Academic Advisor

After submitting an Application for Temporary Leave of Absence, a meeting with your academic advisor will be scheduled. Since this meeting is part of the Application for Temporary Leave of Absence process, it must be completed before the submission deadline of that application. If no meeting is made prior to the deadline, the process will remain incomplete and the temporary leave of absence will not be approved.

(3) Notification of Return to Study

After a temporary leave of absence, students are required to submit the Notification of Returning to Study via “Application” on K-Support without delay. If a student’s temporary leave of absence was illness-related, the student must also submit a letter from their physician certifying that the student is fit to resume his or her studies.

(4) Measures to reduce academic fees (temporary leave of absence)

Temporary Leave of Absence
First year of enrollment	Second year of enrollment and onward
In order to encourage students to study at the University, academic fees and expenses will not be reduced or exempted for students on self-financed study abroad in their first year of enrollment. However, there are exemptions from tuition, facility and equipment fees, and experiment and practical training fees in cases of injuries caused by accidents during military service or curricular and extracurricular activities, or due to the influence of large-scale natural disasters (catastrophes) such as earthquakes and typhoons.	All tuition and facility, experiment, and practical training fees are exempted for each semester. The fees that must be paid are the registration fee and fees collected by proxy (seminar fees, student association fees, and Student Health Care Mutual Aid fee.)

*The procedures and documentation required for exemption will differ depending on the applicable system for academic fees and expenses (the year of admission will also be treated as the first year of enrollment for students who transferred to the second year, holders or prospective holders of a bachelor’s degree and those who transferred to the third year, or have been readmitted to the university, irrespective of the current year-level of enrollment).

For more information about the procedures required to obtain an exemption, please inquire at the counter for your faculty at the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services.

For details and amounts of academic fees and expenses, please check the “Keio University Website” → “Admissions” → “Academic Fees” page. Please note that registration fees will not be eligible for exemption during study abroad or temporary leave of absence, as students can use various services offered by the university such as the Academic Affairs Section and Student Life Services, Keio University Library, network information environment, etc. (excluding student exchange programs that do not include mutual exemption of academic fees and expenses).

(5) Course Enrollment

Any courses registered during a temporary leave of absence will be considered invalid.

An exception may be made in some cases for paired courses. Students who plan to take a temporary leave of absence for the Fall Semester and following Spring Semester may resume enrollment in the incomplete fall segment of a paired course when they return to university the next year. They should have already taken the spring segment of the course before their leave of absence. Only students who have already had their leave of absence approved for the Spring Semester of the following year due to military service, study abroad, medical treatment, etc. at the time of application for a Fall Semester leave of absence (documentation required) may be eligible for this continued enrollment exception. Students should make sure to notify the university of their intentions when submitting their application for a temporary leave of absence in the Fall Semester.

(6) Limit to Temporary Leave of Absence

In accordance with the amendment of Article 152 of the University Rules and Regulations effective from the 2023 academic year, the items listed below shall be followed.

- ① The maximum length for temporary leaves of absence is four years (eight semesters) in total. However, the maximum length that transfer students to Keio and re-entrants can take leaves of absence will differ. For details, please contact the representative for the Faculty of Economics at the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services.
- ② The prescribed total period above will only count temporary leaves of absence taken from April 1, 2023 onward (leaves of absence taken in AY 2022 and earlier will not be counted)
- ③ If a temporary leave of absence is approved in order to complete obligatory military service in a student's home country, then the period will not be counted toward the total.
- ④ Applications to take a temporary leave of absence will be denied (excluding leaves for military service obligations in a student's home country) if the period a student applies for when combined with previously-taken periods exceeds the limit placed on temporary leaves of absence.

2 Advancement to the Next Year and Graduation

- (1) The timing for advancement to the next year and graduation is limited to the end of the academic year. Therefore, for advancement to the next year and graduation, it is necessary to be enrolled at the university in the Spring Semester of the particular year. A student will not be able to advance to the next year or graduate if a temporary leave of absence was taken or the student was studying abroad in the Spring Semester.
- (2) In order to advance to the next year or graduate, it is necessary to obtain the credits required and to have been enrolled at the university for at least two semesters in each year.

3 Withdrawal from University (Undergraduate Rules and Regulations, Article 154)

If circumstances make it necessary to withdraw from the university, then enter specific details regarding the reason for leaving on the Notification of Withdrawal form, obtain a signature of the guarantor and then submit the application and the student ID card to the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services.

The academic records and the enrollment of a student who withdraws from the university part way through a semester will be voided for the semester in question. If a student withdraws before having paid the academic fee in full, the date of withdrawal will be retroactively moved back to the last day of the semester for which academic fees have been paid. (Undergraduate Rules and Regulations, Article 171). Even if all of the fees are paid at a later time, the invalidated enrollment status and grades will not be reinstated.

4 Compulsory Withdrawal from University (Undergraduate Rules and Regulations, Article 156)

Students who have been enrolled for a total of four years in their first and second year and cannot proceed to the third year at the end of the academic year concerned and students who have been enrolled for a total of four years in their third and fourth year and cannot graduate at the end of the academic year concerned shall be required to withdraw from the university. First and third year students who have been enrolled in the same year for a total of three years and cannot proceed to the next year at the end of the academic year concerned shall also be required to withdraw from the university in accordance with Article 156 of the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations.

*Note about taking a temporary leave of absence for one semester

The following students may be permitted to enroll until the end of the next Academic Year(FS) if they remain in the same year level. However, they cannot take a temporary leave of absence during the Spring Semester of the academic year for which they have been permitted to enroll. Temporary leaves of absence in the Fall Semester or in the whole Academic Year (FS) are permitted.

- (i) First-year students and who have been enrolled for a period of two and a half years for their first-year level at the end of the academic year
- (ii) Second-year students who have been enrolled for a period of three and a half years for their first- and second-year levels combined at the end of the academic year

Students who were enrolled for a period of three and a half years in their first-year level that then advance to the second-year level cannot take a temporary leave of absence for either the Fall Semester or Spring Semester alone during the second year, although a leave of absence for the whole Academic Year(FS) is permitted.

5 Compulsory Withdrawal (Undergraduate Rules and Regulations, Article 188)

Students deemed to be in violation of the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations, those who have not registered for courses by the registration deadline, and those whose intention to continue at the university cannot be determined shall be subject to compulsory withdrawal under Article 188 of the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations.

[Undergraduate Faculty Rules and Regulations, Article 188(Excerpt)]

A person who breaches these regulations or other regulations of the University established hereunder, or who neglects his/her studies, the dignity of the University or others, or otherwise engages in behavior not befitting of a student shall be punished, according to the circumstances of the offense, by reprimand, deduction of marks, suspension, or expulsion; Expulsion shall only be employed in the following circumstances:

- 1 Improper conduct or character with no prospect of improvement
- 2 Inferior academic ability with no prospect of an improvement in performance

- 3 Excessive absence from class without reasonable cause
- 4 Disruption of university order or other marked infringement of the duties of a student

6 Study Abroad (Undergraduate Faculty Rules and Regulations, Article 153)

(1) Submission of Application for Studying Abroad

Students who have been accepted into the host university and wish to studying abroad, should apply via “Applications” on K-Support, after confirming the details.

(2) Interview with your academic advisor

After the submission of the Application for Studying Abroad, your academic advisor at your faculty will perform an interview. After receiving approval from the faculty, the official procedures at the university where the student wants to perform the study abroad have been completed, permission for the study abroad will be approved only in cases where the student attends regular classes with the students at the host university.

*Non four year university, such as foreign language study and community college are not regarded as “study abroad” and will be classified as a temporary leave of absence.

(3) Credits obtained at the host university

After returning to Keio, it is possible to have credits obtained during your study abroad transferred and have the study abroad period count towards your enrollment at the university, in accordance with the Undergraduate Rules and Regulations, Article 153.

For details, refer to the Study Abroad Handbook issued by the International Center and then inquire with the person responsible for international matters at the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services and coordinator for your faculty at the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services.

Documents required to submit for credit transfer must be submitted within one month after returning to Japan.

Information on study overseas: http://www.ic.keio.ac.jp/keio_student/exchange/en.html

(4) Measures to reduce academic fees (Study Abroad)

	Study Abroad
	First year of enrollment	Second year of enrollment
Self-financed study abroad	In order to encourage students to study at the University, academic fees and expenses will not be reduced or exempted for students on self-financed study abroad in their first year of enrollment.	All tuition and facility, experiment, and practical training fees are exempted for each semester. The fees that must be paid are the registration fee and fees collected by proxy (seminar fees, student association fees, and Student Health Care Mutual Aid fee.)
Student exchange program (including double degree programs)	In principle, there is no exemption system. However, for student exchange programs that do not include mutual exemption of academic fees and expenses, the total amount of academic fees and expenses will be exempted from programs, excluding fees collected by proxy (seminar fees, student association fees, Student Health Care Mutual Aid fee.)

The period of exemption is up to 4 semesters (including the period of student exchange program and the double degree program)

*The procedures and documentation required for exemption will differ depending on the applicable system for academic fees and expenses (the year of admission will also be treated as the first year of enrollment for students who transferred to the second year, holders or prospective holders of a bachelor's degree and those who transferred to the third year, or have been readmitted to the university, irrespective of the current year-level of enrollment).

For more information about the procedures required to obtain an exemption, please inquire at the counter for your faculty at the Hiyoshi Office of Student Services.

For details and amounts of academic fees and expenses, please check the “Keio University Website” → “Admissions” → “Academic Fees” page. Please note that registration fees will not be eligible for exemption during study abroad or temporary leave of absence, as students can use various services offered by the university such as the Academic Affairs Section and Student Life Services, Keio University Library, network information environment, etc. (excluding student exchange programs that do not include mutual exemption of academic fees and expenses).

7 Handling of Study Abroad at an Educational Institution Overseas

When a student wishes to study overseas whilst at Keio, the status on the university register will be either “study abroad” or “temporary leave of absence.”

	Study abroad	Temporary leave of absence
Details	“student exchange” or “privately financed study abroad” In both these cases, study abroad will only be recognized when official procedures at the university overseas that the faculty judges to be appropriate have been completed and the student attends regular classes with the students at the host university. Non four year university such as community college is not approved as “study” abroad.	Foreign language study In cases when study abroad is not approved.

Period	Period authorized	Up to a maximum of one year from the start date of the study abroad (The permission is granted for the period of registration that has been permitted by the overseas university. Around one week before and after this period of registration can be included as a preparatory period, but doing an internship, etc., will not be authorized.)	Semester units Spring Semester (April 1 to September 21) Fall Semester (September 22 to March 31 of following year)
	Extension Limit	You can extend the period only for one time. (Up to a maximum of 2 years from the start date of the study abroad) Anything beyond this will be treated as a temporary leave of absence. *An Application for Studying Abroad (Extension) must be submitted to extend the study abroad.	For both new applications and applications for extension, students must apply each semester. The period of the temporary leave of absence when the extension of the studying abroad is not possible (for example, when the student wishes to continue studying overseas beyond the extension period written left) will be from the day after the last day of the most recent period of application for study abroad up to either the end of that semester or the end of that academic year. Limit: [1. Temporary Leave of Absence (6) Limit to Temporary Leave of Absence (p. 49)]
Academic fees and travel expenses	Reduction of academic fees	Refer to 6. Study abroad (4) Measures to reduce academic fees (study abroad) (above).	Refer to 1. Temporary leave of absence (4) Measures to reduce academic fees (temporary leave of absence) (p. 49).
Gaining credits and authorization	Course registration	If the study abroad begins after the academic year has started, then it is possible after the study abroad to continue the year-long courses and Spring Semester and Fall Semester half-year set courses that were registered for before the study abroad, and credits can be obtained. In principle, the condition is that it is the same course instructed by the same faculty member. Before beginning the study overseas, be sure to tell the person responsible for each course that you intend to continue to take the course after the study abroad is completed. Continued registration for physical activity courses will only be possible if the course registration is performed before the semester starts, if there are still places available, and if a medical examination certificate is presented.	It is not possible to take courses during the semester of the temporary leave of absence. If a temporary leave of absence is to be taken without completing course registration, then please submit the Application for Temporary Leave of Absence no later than the final day of the period for course registration. If an application for a temporary leave of absence is made after course registration, then the courses registered for during the period of the temporary absence will all become invalid. If the temporary leave of absence is for the Spring Semester, then the courses studied and completed in the Fall Semester will be valid. If the temporary leave of absence is for the Spring Semester and the Fall Semester of the following year, then in the Spring Semester the student returns to study, it will be possible to continue any year-long courses or Spring Semester and Fall Semester half-year set courses that were registered for before the temporary leave of absence. The conditions for this case are as written left.
	Authorization of credits obtained at the university overseas	Credits may be authorized as the credits necessary for graduation from Keio University. The upper limit for this is 60 credits, regardless of the number of times the student studied abroad. Make sure to check the details of this with Office of Student Services before the study abroad. If you would like to have credits authorized, then speak to the Office of Student Services as soon as possible after returning to Japan. It will be necessary to make an application when submitting the Notification of Returning to Study. In some cases, the authorization of credits requested by a student will not be permitted. These credits are not included in the upper limit for course registration.	There will be no authorization of credits.
Inclusion in the number of years enrolled at the university	Advancement to the next year and graduation	If an application is made, then the period of the study abroad (up to a maximum of one year) may be included in the calculation of the number of years enrolled at Keio University and advancement to the next year may be possible retroactively.	The period of the temporary leave of absence will not be included in the calculation of the number of years enrolled at Keio University. When returning to study, the student will remain in the same year.
Application procedures		Please apply via "Applications" on K-Support → Receive an interview with your academic advisor → After approval at the Faculty Meeting, notification of approval is delivered to the guarantor.

* The application process takes some time, so please prepare early.
