

Keio University Graduate School of Economics Application Period I
AY2023 Criteria for the Exemption of the First Screening

Those who are enrolled in the Faculty of Economics, who plan to apply to the Graduate School of Economics in the Application Period I conducted in AY 2023 and meet the criteria below may apply to be exempted from submitting the English test score and from attending the written examination in the First Screening.

1. Criteria and Eligibility

Those enrolled in the fourth-year level of the Keio University Faculty of Economics whose accumulated GPA is above 2.9 at the time of application.

Notes:

- a) Those who repeated a year-level due to the failure to meet the advancement criteria (excluding study abroad/leave of absence) are NOT eligible for the exemption.
- b) Fourth-year level students who are in the period of extension of the enrollment are eligible for the exemption.

2. Notes on Application

Those eligible to be exempted from the first screening of the examination should select <Those who are exempted from the First Screening, Application Period I> on the online application registration. After the application is submitted, the Office of Student Services will confirm whether or not the requirements are met. No prior application is required.