Graduate School of Media Design features

KMD trains students to become “media innovators,” our term for the globally-oriented creative leaders who drive activities in the creative society. Accordingly, we use English and Japanese as our official languages and work in an environment designed to maximize our state-of-the-art network infrastructure. The curriculum and its integrated projects focus on the three pillars defined below to give students the experience they need to “MAKE, DEPLOY, and IMPACT” in an international context.

1. Innovation Pipeline

KMD views innovation as an integrated process that we describe as “MAKE, DEPLOY and IMPACT,” and uses an educational model called the “innovation pipeline.” “MAKE” refers to an iterative “Build to Think” process of developing and proposing ideas, and then verifying them through ethnographies and prototyping. This process encourages students to think about and evolve their ideas as they build. The equipment and environment at KMD allow students to gain practical experience in the “MAKE” phase. In “DEPLOY,” students work to deliver prototypes to society. In this phase, students learn how to accelerate new ventures, and how to promote and present their ideas more effectively. In the “IMPACT” phase, we learn about strategies for developing new fields and disrupting existing fields for the purpose of bringing value to the creative society.

2. Diversity

In the global community, it is crucial that we understand the nature of local economies and cultures and are able to respect each other’s expertise and values. KMD’s diverse community provides the basis for acquiring this expertise. Nearly 50% of KMD students come from outside Japan, and they bring their own cultural and social values. There is a broad range of academic backgrounds, with many bringing experience in business, as well as diversity of age groups, which is a distinct advantage. KMD highly values diversity in its many forms and the synergy that it creates. Our students encounter diversity in a variety of ways on a daily basis, and they understand, respect, and value each other.

3. Radical Collaboration

Innovation occurs when a team is able to combine the different areas of expertise, experience, and perspectives of its members. The environment at KMD facilitates the serendipity of chance encounters with people from different backgrounds. Serendipity breeds new ideas that serve as the starting points for innovation. What starts out as serendipity turns into synergy; this is how breakthroughs occur. At KMD, our students of different academic and cultural backgrounds collaborate with other students, faculty members, and external organizations, including those at our satellite locations in Osaka and Singapore, via our high-definition video conferencing system. Beyond KMD, the CEMS Program, GID Program, and EBA Program offer students shared curricula with other globally-ranked graduate schools.

4. Aims for Training Human Resources and Other Educational and Research Goals

The mission of KMD is to develop creative leaders and innovators who have the ability to globally collaborate beyond disciplines and cultures to innovate and create social value. English and Japanese are both official languages of KMD. The curriculum is structured to have practical projects with external partners at its core, to acquire practical skills and theories including research and development of advanced digital technology, project management in multiple locations and cultural environments, product and service design, and business models and policy recommendations.

5. Principles of Education

● Diploma Policy

Training for leaders who can put new perspectives into practice is urgently required in order to realize a more sustainable society. To design future post-pandemic societies, three literacies are essential: futures literacy to envisage what is to come, innovation literacy for thinking outside the box unfettered by prevailing values and perspectives, and media literacy to accelerate activities that blend cyber-physical spaces. KMD prepares students for becoming the leaders of tomorrow by acquiring these three literacies and an appropriate mindset through praxis.

In the master's program, students apply a comprehensive perspective grounded in the three literacies they have learned to the real projects in order to write a master's thesis. In the doctoral program, students prepare a doctoral dissertation proposal on research that has implications for future society under the supervision of their academic advisor. When ready, a Dissertation Advisory Committee is formed, and students who pass the committee's review become doctoral candidates. Students begin writing a draft of the doctoral dissertation after receiving permission from the Advisory Committee. Once they have submitted their draft, a Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee including external examiners is convened. Students need to reflect the amendments that are suggested by this committee into the final draft of their dissertation. After the final version is submitted, a public doctoral defense is held and the result reported by the Review Committee to the KMD Faculty Meeting, which is responsible for making the final decision on whether or not to award the degree.

● Curriculum Policy

The curriculum is designed for students to acquire three literacies: futures literacy to envisage what is to come, innovation literacy for thinking outside the box unfettered by prevailing values and perspectives, and media literacy to accelerate activities that blend cyber-physical spaces. In the introductory courses, students learn the fundamental hard and soft skills of the four areas of design, technology, management, and policy, while in the theory/strategy elective courses, students acquire an advanced conceptual understanding and perspective for designing a desirable future. At the heart of the curriculum is the real project. Students are expected to act on the three literacies to carry out the project and raise their level of expertise in their chosen field.

● Admissions Policy

Futures literacy requires curiosity, imagination, and future-orientated thinking. Innovation literacy demands flexible thinking and the fostering of a global perspective. Media literacy necessitates skills to facilitate the blending of and collaboration between cyber-physical spaces. KMD therefore seeks passionate, visionary students who are brimming with the creativity and compositional ability needed to take on the challenge of exploring uncharted territories. Applicants are evaluated based on their potential regardless of academic background. An interview will be held after the document screening.

2. Notifications for Graduate Students

Students should regularly check notifications from the KMD Office posted on the “For KMD Students” page of the KMD website (<https://students.kmd.keio.ac.jp/studenttop>). Students who fail to check the website regularly will be at a disadvantage if they miss important notifications. Additionally, students should check the bulletin boards of other graduate schools and faculties if registered for their courses. Check the common bulletin boards for information regarding the lectures and courses offered at the various Research Centers and Institutes.

3. Student Identification (ID) Number

The eight-digit number shown on the front of the student ID card and the registration sticker on the back is your student ID number. Each student is assigned a unique number, which is used for all procedures at the university including course registration and the submission of any documentation. Student numbers are also used to announce scholarship selections and program completion.

4. Student Identification (ID) Card (Security Card)

The student ID card is your proof of enrollment at KMD. It also serves as a security card for accessing certain areas of the Collaboration Complex, as a library card to check out books and materials, and as proof of membership of the Keio Student Health Care Mutual Aid Association (Gakuseikenpo). Student ID cards cannot be lent or transferred to other people. Students should carry their student ID cards with them at all times as it will be required in the following cases:

- As and when requested by faculty and staff members
- To collect Student Travel Fare Discount Certificates (Gakuwari) and other certification
- To take exams
- To enter specially designated facilities such as classrooms and the university libraries
- When purchasing student commuter passes or discounted tickets and when requested by transport staff

(1) Student ID Card

Student ID cards consist of an ID card, a registration sticker, and a card case. Student ID cards are only valid once the registration sticker has been attached to the back of the card.

Student ID cards must be carried in the card case. Do not carry together with bank cards, etc., as this may damage the magnetic stripe. Do not remove the registration sticker from the back of the card without good reason.

- Confirm the details shown on the ID card when it is issued.
- The academic year and expiration date appear on the registration sticker. Attach the sticker to the back of the ID card after verifying that the information shown is correct.
- Important information regarding use of the student ID card is shown on the card case

(2) Procedures to Issue (Renew) Registration Stickers

Stickers with updated expiration dates will be issued for students whose stickers expire due to reasons such as taking a leave of absence, studying abroad, or repeating a year. Please peel off the old sticker and affix the new sticker to the back of your student ID card. The new sticker will be ready in mid-March or early September.

(3) Reissuing Student ID Cards

In cases of loss or damage to your student ID card or registration sticker, apply to have the card or sticker reissued by submitting the “Application for Re-issuance of Student ID Card” (学生証再交付願) to the KMD Office.

- Necessary documentation, photograph taken within the last 3 months (a 4×3 cm photo printed on glossy paper without borders; the photo should be of the upper body taken from the front against a plain background; do not wear a hat)
- Cost to re-issue: 2,000 yen (purchase certificate stamps [shoshi] at the KMD Office)

(4) Return of Student ID Card

If the old student ID card is found after a new card has been issued, it should be handed into the KMD Office immediately. Students must also return their student ID cards to the KMD Office if leaving the school due to withdrawal from the university, completion of the degree, or withdrawal from the doctoral program upon completion of the course requirements (without submission of a dissertation).

5. Classrooms

Please refer to “Layout of Third Floor of Collaboration Complex” at the end of this guide. For information on reserving classrooms, see “8. Use of Classrooms” in the “Application and Notifications” section below.

6. Class Schedules and Course Syllabi

Class schedules and course syllabi are available at the KMD website.

Class schedules for Spring and Fall Semesters: <https://students.kmd.keio.ac.jp/studenttop>

Course syllabi (KMD e-Learning system): <http://archiver.kmd.keio.ac.jp/>

*The password to access the website will be announced at the orientation for new students.

7. Cancellations and Make-up Classes

In principle, make-up classes will be held whenever the cancellation of a class is unavoidable. Make-up classes are primarily held on Saturdays or from the fifth period onward on weekdays. The KMD Office will announce all cancellations and make-up of classes via the KMD website:

<https://students.kmd.keio.ac.jp/studenttop>

8. Examinations and Grades

(1) Examinations

Examinations may be held during classes. Students must check the KMD website for important notifications on examinations to ensure they do not miss any announcements made outside of class.

Semester-end examinations for courses offered by other graduate schools and undergraduate faculties may be held at specified times at the end of the semester. Please note that the examination dates of other Keio graduate schools and faculties are different to those of KMD. For more information, please check the relevant bulletin boards of the schools and faculties.

(2) Notification of Grades

Academic transcripts may be viewed online for a designated period in early September for the Spring Semester and in mid-March for the Fall Semester. A “keio.jp” ID and password are required. Details on the academic transcripts and designated period for online perusal will be announced via the “For Keio Students” website:

The grades of completed courses will be shown on your Transcript of Academic Record from the next semester.

(3) Announcement of Completion

Announcement of Completion is shown on the academic transcripts which may be viewed online.

Spring Semester: early September

Fall Semester: mid-March

9. Academic Misconduct

In the event that a student engages in academic misconduct on an examination or assignment, the student in question will be subject to strict disciplinary action as stipulated by the Graduate School of Media Design Committee. Moreover, details concerning the disciplinary action to be taken will be publicly announced on the website and the KMD Office bulletin board after officially notifying the student in question. If cheating is found on an examination or assignment for credit, the student in question will not receive any credits for courses taken that semester. As a general rule, academic misconduct on any other examinations or assignments shall be handled in the same manner. Disciplinary action for academic misconduct on master's theses may result in expulsion from the Graduate School, pursuant to the Article 161 of Keio University's Graduate School Regulations. All students are expected to act responsibly and with integrity.

10. Lockers

The lockers through the security doors on the third floor (north and south wings) of the Collaboration Complex are available for use by KMD students. Students must ensure they use the locker with their name tag attached and are personally responsible for preparing the lock.

11. Smoking

Smoking is prohibited at Hiyoshi Campus both inside and outside of all buildings, except in the designated smoking areas.

Doctoral Program

ADVANCED RESEARCH (2)

3. Curriculum and Completion Model

Master’s Program

Practical, wide-ranging lectures in the four creative domains of Design, Technology, Management, and Policy (DTMP) provide students with the basic skills they need as media innovators. This training utilizes the KMD Method, KMD’s original educational approach.

The key emphasis at KMD is on “Real Projects” integrating the four domains of creativity. They involve participants from industry, government, and academia who collaborate to achieve results beyond the capacity of any one individual. Through their deep commitment to these Real Projects, students improve their skills and capabilities as media innovators.

Students will register the “Introductory Project” in the first semester and “Real Project” after the second semester. An information session for all Projects called the “Real Project Showcase” will be held shortly after admission. Students will select their Introductory Project based on the Showcase.

Students present their progress and results for their project in the “Plenary Meetings” of each semester. Participation in the Plenary Meetings is mandatory for the Introductory and Real Projects.

- Introductory subjects (Requisite): 10 credits
- Introductory Project: 2 credits

<Students admitted in AY 2014–AY 2017 >

*Please refer to the supporting document “[Appendix] Excerpts for Students Enrolled in AY 2014–AY 2017” for the detailed information.

4. Evaluation Details

There are ten grade levels from “A+” to “D.” Grades from “A+” to “C-” are passing grades, whereas “D” is a fail. Courses taken at other universities that have been approved for credit transfer without using the grade levels A, B, C or P are assigned a G. Conversion tables for the grades levels as of AY 2017 are shown below.

<For students enrolled in/after Academic Year 2017>

Grades	Points	Grades shown on Academic Transcript
A+	100 -80	S
A		S
A-		A
B+	79 -70	A
B		B
B-		B
C+	69 -60	C
C		C

A-		A
B+	79 -70	A
B		B
B-		B
C+	69 -60	C
C		C
C-		C
D	59 or less	Not displayed

5. GPA

The GPA (Grade Point Average) for the current semester and the cumulative GPA for all periods of enrollment are shown on Grade Reports (not on Academic Transcripts). GPAs are rounded off to two decimals places.

The grade point for each grade level is as follows:

$$A+ = 4.33 / A = 4.0 / A- = 3.67 / B+ = 3.33 / B = 3.0 / B- = 2.67 / C+ = 2.33 / C = 2.0 / C- = 1.67 / D = 0$$

(Courses assigned a grade level of G, P, or F, and optional courses offered by other undergraduate faculties and graduate schools at Keio University will not be included in the calculation for the GPA.)

The calculation for GPA is as follows:

$$GPA = \text{Total (Grade Point x Number of Credits)} \div \text{Total of Credits earned}$$

(4) Notes for Master’s Program Course Registration

【Project Subjects】

- The INTRODUCTORY PROJECT must be taken in the first semester. The REAL PROJECT is a requisite subject that all students must attend for 3 consecutive semesters after earning credit for the INTRODUCTORY PROJECT. Students prepare for selecting the REAL PROJECT from the next semester in the INTRODUCTORY PROJECT.
- Students who decide to change their REAL PROJECT part way through are still required to attend the new REAL PROJECT for three (3) consecutive semesters from the semester in which they made the change. As a result, students will need to extend their enrollment at KMD for an additional semester or more to complete the degree.

- Plenary Meetings are mandatory for the Introductory and Real Projects.

【Independent Research Subject】

<Students admitted in AY 2018 or later >

- Students must register for MEDIA DESIGN RESEARCH 1 (second semester), MEDIA DESIGN RESEARCH 2 (third semester), and MEDIA DESIGN RESEARCH 3 (fourth semester), which is overseen by their main supervisor. (These courses must be registered to successfully complete the master's program). The Interim Presentation is a part of MEDIA DESIGN RESEARCH 2. The master's thesis and Final Presentation are a part of MEDIA DESIGN RESEARCH 3.

Students categorized in "Beginner" or "Intermediate" are strongly recommended to register for the "KMD English 1" starting in the Communication Week and "KMD English 2" courses held in the first semester.
- Furthermore, students are to present in English for the Interim Presentation on their master's thesis which constitutes the final examination for Media Design Research 2 at the end of the third semester, irrespective of their native language. Please make effective use of the classes for "KMD English" and "Presentations Skills" when preparing for this presentation.
- For details about the Interim Presentations, please refer to "(4) Details for Evaluation, D. Interim Presentations" in the preceding "Curriculum and Process for Degree Conferral, 6. Process for Degree Conferral."

Before going abroad to study, an “Application for Study Abroad” (国外留学申請書) must be submitted to the KMD Office two months prior to the desired departure date. After being screened and approved by the student’s main research supervisor, the application will be forwarded to the The Graduate School of Media Design Committee. Please note that going abroad to attend a language program is considered a “Temporary Leave of Absence.” Please refer to the “Guidebook for Overseas Study” (留学のてびき) issued by the International Center of Keio University (available in Japanese only). The guidebook is available at the KMD Office.

(2) Required Documents

Students must submit the following documents to the KMD Office after returning from abroad. A period of up to one year studying at overseas universities and institutions can be counted toward the enrollment period at KMD.

- “Notification of Returning to Study” (就学届)
- “Application Regarding Period of Study Abroad” (在学期間算入願)

If you wish to transfer credits (maximum of ten credits) acquired abroad to the degree program at KMD, submit the following documents after receiving approval from your main research supervisor. Students are recommended to have the necessary documents issued while still studying at the overseas university/institution.

- “Application Form for Credit Transfer” (単位認定申請書)
- Academic Transcript
- Syllabus/Lecture outlines

3. Withdrawal

(1) “Notification of Withdrawal” (退学届) :

Fill in the “Notification of Withdrawal” (退学届) available on the KMD website. The student and his or her guarantor must sign and affix their seals individually on the form, and the student must then attend an interview with his or her main research supervisor before submitting to the KMD Office. The student ID card of the student must also be returned when the form is submitted. The application form will not be accepted if the signatures or seals of the student and the guarantor are the same.

<Date of Withdrawal>

If the payment of tuition and other fees has been made, you may set the withdrawal date. (Usually September 21 for the Spring Semester and March 31 for the Fall Semester.) Please note that if you choose to withdraw before end of the semester, you will not receive credits for registered courses in that semester.

(2) Expulsion (excerpt from Graduate School Regulations Articles No. 128, No. 161):

The maximum period of enrollment in the same graduate school is four years in the Master's Program and six years in the Doctoral Program excluding any Temporary Leaves of Absence. If a student is unmotivated and/or unfit to pursue programs, disciplinary action will be taken to expel the student from the Graduate School.

4. Period of Enrollment in the Doctoral Program

(1) Withdrawal from the Doctoral Program with the Completion of Course Requirements

Doctoral students will be approved for "Withdrawal from the Doctoral Program with the Completion of Course Requirements" upon satisfaction of all the following conditions:

1. Enrolled in the Doctoral Program for three or more years and earned 12 or more credits for ADVANCED RESEARCH.
2. Passed the doctoral dissertation proposal defense overseen by the dissertation advisory committee and approved by the Graduate School of Media Design Committee.

Students who wish to withdraw from the Doctoral Program with the Completion of Course Requirements must submit a "Notification of Withdrawal from the Doctoral Program with the Completion of Course Requirements" form to the KMD Office. For more information, please refer to the "KMD Student" page on the KMD website.

[Notes for Students who have received approval for "Withdrawal from the Doctoral Program with the Completion of Course Requirements"]

1. Persons who have withdrawn from the doctoral program cannot use facilities at Keio University or the Graduate School such as e-journals, networks, etc.
2. It is strongly recommended for those who wish to withdraw from the doctoral program to first consult their main supervisor.

(2) Application for Extension of Enrollment Period

If students fulfilling all the requirements above need more time to write the doctoral dissertation, they will be allowed to extend their enrollment period up to a maximum of six years from the time of admission, excluding periods of temporary leaves of absence.

Eligible students who do not submit a "Withdrawal from the Doctoral Program with the Completion of Course Requirements" will automatically have their enrollment extended. There is a reduction to tuition fees for students who extend their enrollment. Please consult the KMD Office for details.

[Notes on Extension of Enrollment Period]

There was an amendment (reduction) to the academic fees and expenses for "Extensions of Enrollment Period" from academic year 2016. This amendment applies to all students regardless of their year of admission. The total amount consists of 100,000 yen (50,000 yen per semester) for tuition fees, 60,000 yen (30,000 yen for one semester) for basic affiliation fees, and 2,500 yen (1,250 yen for one semester) for the registration fee for the Student Health Care Mutual Aid Association.

5. Changes of Personal Information

Students must submit the following forms to the KMD Office immediately after any changes to their personal information:

If there is a change to your home address, write the new address on the back of your Student ID card and receive a stamp of certification from the KMD Office. If there has been a change to your address (student's, not the guarantor's), please register the new address on keio.jp. If everything is in order, the registration of your new address will be completed within a few days.

Please note that submission of the above forms is extremely important to prevent delays in receiving any vital documentation that the KMD Office sends out by post.

Annual Health Checkup, Student Health Insurance, Counseling and Career Support

1. Annual Health Checkup

In accordance with the School Health and Safety Act and the Graduate School Regulations, an annual health check is provided to students every Spring to promote their health and to prevent, detect, and treat disease in the early stages. If you take a checkup at a hospital or clinic outside Keio University, the results of this health check must be submitted to the Health Center on Hiyoshi Campus.

If any disease or other medical condition is found, the student will be notified directly, along with information on the appropriate measures to be taken.

In order to promote student health, complete examinations are provided at the University Health Center, which includes issuance of introduction letters to Keio University Hospital for reexaminations, and treatments and regular consultations at the Health Center.

Please note that the Certificate of Annual Health Examination will not be issued to students who do not take the annual health check.

Regarding treatments at the University Health Center, half of the fee is paid for by students and the other half is covered by the Keio Student Health Care Mutual Aid Association (Gakuseikenpo). Students must immediately notify the KMD Office (045-564-2517) or the security office (045-564-2452 extension: 37100) after office hours and holidays if they are involved in an accident on campus. Appropriate measures will be taken immediately to call an ambulance or contact medical institutions.

2. Vaccination Against Measles

Recently, many high schools and universities cancelled classes due to a measles outbreak. A possible factor for the epidemic was that a large number of people were not vaccinated because they had not been affected by measles in the past. Another factor was that ten years had passed since many people were last vaccinated and their immunity had since declined. In order to prevent an outbreak of measles or rubella on campus, please be sure to check your Maternal and Child Health Handbook. If you have not been vaccinated twice, please consult a doctor for a vaccination. Please also consult a doctor regarding vaccinations against chickenpox, mumps, and other infectious disease.

3. Notification of Infectious Disease

Under the School Health and Safety Act, if students are found to be infected or are potentially infected with communicable diseases (including COVID-19, in addition to influenza, rubella, measles, etc.) they are prohibited from attending classes (coming to the university). For more details, please visit the Health Center website (<http://www.hcc.keio.ac.jp/en/index.html>).

A “Permission of Return to Campus After Illness” (感染症登校許可証明書) form must be submitted when coming back to university. The form may be obtained from the website below. You must ask your doctor to fill it out. Submit the form to the Hiyoshi Health Center and have an interview with a doctor residing at the Health Center. This interview is mandatory.

If you had influenza, on the first day of returning to university, please fill out the part inside the bold lines and then submit this form and a document showing that you had influenza (e.g., explanation of your prescription, the envelope that contained the medicine) to the Health Center.

Health Center website: <http://www.hcc.keio.ac.jp/en/index.html>

Reference: period for suspension of university attendance

- Measles: three days after your temperature begins to recede
- Rubella: until the rash disappears
- Chicken pox: until the rash over the body disappears
- Mumps: until the parotid swelling subsides
- Influenza: two days after your temperature begins to recedes

A training room run by the Association in the Student Union Building (Jukusei Kaikan) on Hiyoshi Campus is available to students. For more information, refer to the handbook distributed during the entrance ceremony. The handbook is also available at the KMD Office.

For activities outside of the university, please submit an application form to the KMD Office four days before the activity.

Activities covered by this insurance: Academic and extra-curricular activities or events on and off campus, and accidents on the commute to KMD

There is also liability insurance called Liability Insurance coupled with PAS (“Gakkenbai”). Students will be covered for any damages for which they may be held liable through causing injury to or damaging the property of third parties. Although membership of “Gakkenbai” is voluntary, KMD pays the insurance premium for KMD students due to the use of expensive equipment at the school.

6. Optional Compensation

There are two types of optional compensation: “insurance” and “mutual aid.” Students should apply for these directly if they wish to be covered:

Student Comprehensive Insurance: Keio Academic Enterprises (TEL: 03-3453-6098)

Step 1: Selecting advisors

The principal advisor will choose the co-advisor 1 within a month after starting the program, by consulting with the doctoral student (*1). Both advisors will supervise the student's research as a team.

Step 2: Writing a doctoral dissertation proposal and giving an interim presentation

The students will write a proposal that describes their research and provides an outline of the doctoral dissertation (see the attachment Doctoral Dissertation Proposal Instructions). Students are required to periodically consult their principal advisor and co-advisor 1 determined in Step 1 and discuss their proposal before submitting it to the principal advisor. To obtain wider feedback from other KMD faculty members, students must present their research progress at the KMD doctoral interim presentation session. The principal advisor will decide on the timing of the application, but it is recommended that the interim presentation is planned for the semester before your doctoral dissertation proposal defense in consultation with the principal advisor.

Allotted Time: 20 minutes per person (presentation: 12 minutes, Q&A: 8 minutes)

Step 3: Dissertation Advisory Committee and doctoral dissertation proposal defense (*11)

After the principal advisor accepts the doctoral dissertation proposal, a Dissertation Advisory Committee will be formed (*2) and a doctoral dissertation proposal defense will be held to review the proposal (*3) [Form #KMD-DF-1]. The principal advisor will propose, and the Dean will appoint the Dissertation Advisory Committee with the approval of the Graduate School of Media Design committee (hereafter “graduate school committee”). The principal advisor must promptly communicate the result (*4) to the student and the graduate school committee (Form #KMD-DF-2). The student must revise the doctoral dissertation proposal based on the feedback, get approval by his/her principal advisor for the revised version and submit it to Dean of the Graduate School of Media Design [Form #KMD-DS-1]. The Dissertation Advisory Committee judges the defense based on both the oral presentation and the submitted proposal, and final approval is given by the graduate school committee. Approved doctoral dissertation proposals will be available to KMD students and faculty. Students who pass the defense become doctoral candidates.

Allotted Time: 60 minutes per person (presentation: 15 minutes, oral examination: 45 minutes)

Step 4: Research review by the Dissertation Advisory Committee and writing the dissertation

At least once every 6 months, the Dissertation Advisory Committee reviews the candidate's research and recommends a grade (*5). When the candidate wishes to write a draft of the doctoral dissertation, the Dissertation Advisory Committee will check whether the candidate's research is of an appropriate level. If deemed appropriate, the candidate will write a draft of the doctoral dissertation under the guidance of the Dissertation Advisory Committee.

Step 5: Forming a Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee (*11)

After the Dissertation Advisory Committee approves the dissertation draft and the candidate has completed all the requirements agreed upon at the doctoral dissertation proposal defense, he/she will submit the approved dissertation draft to the Dean [Form #KMD-DS-2]. The Dean appoints the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee (*6) upon the application made by the principal advisor and with the approval of the graduate school committee [Form #KMD-DF-3]. The Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee will review the dissertation draft and inform the candidate and the Dissertation Advisory Committee of the results (*7).

Step 6: Submitting the doctoral dissertation (for final assessment)

The candidate will revise the doctoral dissertation until the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee members are satisfied with it, and then he/she will submit the dissertation (for final assessment) [Form #KMD-DS-3] along with the degree application documents [Form #KMD-DS-4] to the Dean.

Step 7: Public doctoral dissertation defense and final assessment (*11)

The Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee chair will hold a public doctoral dissertation defense (*8) [Form #KMD-DF-4] after receiving the doctoral dissertation (for final assessment), with the approval of the graduate school committee. The Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee and the Dissertation Advisory Committee will make the final decision immediately after the public doctoral dissertation defense upon mutual agreement, and the candidate will be promptly informed of the result (*9). If the candidate passes the defense, he/she will revise based on the feedback from the committee and submit the final version of the doctoral dissertation to the committee members.

Allotted time: 80 minutes (presentation: 40 minutes, oral examination: 40 minutes)

Step 8: Submitting the doctoral dissertation (final) and result of public doctoral dissertation defense

The Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee chair will submit a result of public doctoral dissertation defense to the graduate school committee [Form #KMD-DF-5]. If the candidate passes the defense, the chair should submit the final version of the doctoral dissertation together with the form. The graduate school of committee should review the final version of the doctoral dissertation and agree on any changes to be made to approve. The candidate can make fixes that were approved by the graduate school committee to make the approved version of the doctoral dissertation and submit it to the chair.

Step 9: Award of the doctoral degree

The Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee chair will submit the final assessment and the approved version of the doctoral dissertation to the graduate school committee [Form #KMD-DF-6]. Upon receiving the documents, the graduate school committee will deliberate on the documents and the doctoral dissertation. Conferral of the doctoral degree will be approved and decided by the graduate school committee. The approved version of the dissertation file (PDF) will be published on the University digital library (the Media Center). The degree application documents must be resubmitted if any changes need to be made to them [Form #KMD-DS-5] to the graduate school committee.

Step10: Submitting the bound hard copy of the doctoral dissertation (approved version)
The bound hard copy of the doctoral dissertation approved by the graduate school committee must be submitted (*10). The content of the approved version (PDF) and the bound hard copy should be identical.

Notes:

- *1. The faculty member the student contacted when entering the program will be appointed as the principal advisor. If students wish to change their principal advisor, they will need to obtain approval from the graduate school committee and may need to start from Step 1 [Form #KMD-DF-0]. To be a principal advisor or co-advisor 1 they must be graduate school committee members.
- *2. The Dissertation Advisory Committee is composed of the principal advisor, co-advisor 1 determined in Step 1, and co-advisor 2. Co-advisor 2 must also be a graduate school committee member. However, KMD full-time faculty members (irrespective of qualifications and including project faculty members) can be considered for co-advisor 2 with the approval of the graduate school committee. Additional external co-advisor(s) can be invited with the approval of the graduate school committee.
- *3. The principal advisor, in consultation with the student and the Dissertation Advisory Committee, can set the date for the doctoral dissertation proposal defense at their discretion, but the date decided on should be approved at a graduate school committee that is scheduled more than 1 week prior to the date. The doctoral dissertation proposal defense begins with the student's oral presentation, lasting no more than 15 minutes. This is followed by the oral examination, which generally lasts about 45 minutes. KMD faculty and students can attend the doctoral dissertation proposal defense.
- *4. If the student passes the doctoral dissertation proposal defense, the Dissertation Advisory Committee will discuss and agree on the changes to be made to the doctoral dissertation proposal and the dissertation requirements. If the student fails the doctoral dissertation proposal defense, the Dissertation Advisory Committee discusses and agrees on the changes needed for the doctoral dissertation proposal and other feedback.
- *5. After the doctoral dissertation proposal defense, the Dissertation Advisory Committee must have at least 2 review meetings to give thesis-writing advice to the student, before he/she completes the draft of the doctoral dissertation. If major revisions (changes to categories, etc.) to the research content described in the doctoral dissertation proposal is unavoidable following the doctoral dissertation proposal defense, the student must obtain approval from the Dissertation Advisory Committee and submit a revised doctoral dissertation proposal to the graduate school committee (Students to resubmit Form #KMD-DS-1/Faculty members to resubmit Form #KMD-DF-2). Only if the revised doctoral dissertation proposal is approved by the graduate school committee will the student be permitted to continue writing the dissertation.

- *6. A Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee is comprised of at least 4 members, including one chair; at least half of them, including the chair, should be graduate school committee members. The principal advisor appoints the chair of the committee and appoints other members by consulting with the chair. The committee cannot include the principal advisor and it must include one or more outside professionals. The outside professionals must hold a doctoral degree or equivalent. If the principal advisor is no longer a “Graduate School of Media Design committee member” due to resignation, etc., after the formation of the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee, the chair of the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee may be permitted to concurrently serve as the principal advisor upon the approval of the graduate school committee.
- *7. The Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee must submit the final report within 1 year. The Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee may suggest revisions of the doctoral dissertation to the Dissertation Advisory Committee and the candidate as necessary. Generally, students should expect a minimum of 2 months for feedback on the submitted thesis.
- *8. The chair of the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee, in consultation with the student and the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee, can set the date for the public doctoral dissertation defense at their discretion but the date decided on should be approved at a graduate school committee that is scheduled more than 1 week prior to the date. The public doctoral dissertation defense begins with the candidate’s oral presentation, lasting no more than 40 minutes. This is followed by the oral examination, which generally lasts about 40 minutes. As a general rule, doctoral dissertation defenses are open to the public.
- *9. The result of the public defense, either pass or fail will be reported to the graduate school committee within the semester when the defense held. The dissertation review committee will be dissolved upon submission of the result. In case of fail, students can resubmit the revised dissertation draft to form a committee but the public defense can only be held once a semester.
- *10. The bound hard copy of the doctoral dissertation approved by the graduate school committee must be submitted to the KMD Office after the approval. If your dissertation contains a section that cannot be made public, you will need to submit two bound hard copies, one bound hard copy otherwise. Please consult with your principal supervisor and the chair of the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee for more details about submission.

*11. The normal candidature period is about 3 years for a doctoral degree. For students who plan to obtain their doctoral degree in March, the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee must be formed by the mid November, and the public doctoral dissertation defense must be held by mid January. For students who plan to obtain their doctoral degree in September, the Doctoral Dissertation Review Committee must be formed by the mid May, and the public doctoral dissertation defense must be held by mid July.

For students who plan to withdraw from the doctoral program after completion of course requirements in March, the doctoral dissertation proposal defense must be held by mid January. For students who plan to withdraw from the doctoral program after completion of course requirements in September, the doctoral dissertation proposal defense must be held by mid July. However, these dates are a rough guide for the minimum amount of time required and in reality the schedule differs from case to case. Consultation with your principal advisor for the time needed for guidance and evaluation is strongly recommended.
